

Dear President of the Academy of Science of Moldova,
Dear Rector of the University of Moldova
Dear Colleagues,

With congratulations, I call your attention to the event of the just approved China-Moldova Scientific Cooperation Project between Harbin Institute of Technology and Institute of Chemistry of the Academy of Sciences of Moldova, the Laboratory of Quantum Chemistry. Distinguished from other well known International Scientific cooperation projects, this one is on the special announced by the Government of the Peoples Republic of China (within their bigger attempt to enhance the intellectual development of their country), and it is fully financed by China Government.

This event is definitely an international recognition of the high scientific achievements of the Academy of Sciences of Moldova and its Chemistry Institute; it is based on its International peer reviewed scientific outcomes, and we all should be satisfied with this International recognition (it is also a contribution to the EU science).

I am glad that I could contribute to this achievement and its present outcome.

With best regards and wishes for further success,

Prof. Dr. Isaac B. Bersuker, Academician, Academy of Sciences of Moldova
Oden Institute of Computational Engineering and Science
